Introduction

Port Training Services (PTS) is a specialist training provider delivering fully accredited, industry recognised qualifications for companies and individuals serving the Port & Marine, Warehousing & Logistics, Heavy Industry, Subsea and Offshore Energy sectors.

As the training division of the Port of Blyth, PTS operates from a purpose built, state-of-the-art facility in the north east of England. As one of the fastest developing Trust Ports in the UK, the Port of Blyth has a renowned reputation as a major support base for the Offshore Energy sector.

Working in partnership with clients from across industry, PTS is able to leverage many years of training experience alongside a unique industrial asset base to offer a comprehensive and flexible course portfolio. We offer a high quality, cost effective and professional service that is focused on improving the knowledge, skills and competence of your workforce, whilst always prioritising the importance of safer working environments. Training by industry for industry.

With safety and competence at its heart, PTS has worked tirelessly with national accrediting bodies and industry associations to develop and deliver a range of national vocational qualifications and apprenticeship standards.

Port Training Services currently operates under approval from:

Courses

PTS offers a unique blend of training experiences to delegates from across the world. On a local level we support industrial businesses of all types to develop the skills of their workforce and instil a safety first culture, whilst internationally we are recognised for an excellent range of Port related vocational training courses.

PLANT TRAINING

Our plant training offers delegates the chance to learn in safe, real world environments - with both indoor warehouse and outdoor environments recreated - with courses in everything from forklift operation through to crane operation. All our plant training is fully accredited by NPORS.

HEALTH & SAFETY

Having initially been set up to ensure the Port of Blyth's staff received some of the best safety related training available, PTS delivers a full suite of health and safety courses designed to improve an individual's skills and support businesses to develop a safety first culture that is good for staff and for business.

NVQ & APPRENTICESHIP

Having previously identified an opportunity to drive forward standards in port related NVQs and Apprenticeships, PTS is now a leading proponent of such qualifications and works regularly throughout the UK training the staff of the future at a wide range of ports.
